HAILE LOSING FAITH: GIRDS SELF FOR WAR

While Italy Bluntly Warns Britain to "Go Slowly"

Addis Ababa, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Slowly losing faith in Geneva, Emperor Haile Selassie today prayed for victory on the field of battle. "If it is God's will that we must save our souls against the Italians, let us pray in sadness for victory," he said. "He shall not fail us."

From his palace window he looked down upon a caravan laden with cartridges and modern rifles setting out for Wollega province to equip 80,000 Galla tribesmen. The Gallas are noted, along with Danakils, as the fiercest warriors in Haile Selassie's empire. The caravan was headed by General Makonnen Demis, the husband of the Emperor's only niece—a bond which seals a once deeply feud Demis had with the emperor.

Prepares For War
With the rainy season nearing its end, the Emperor is wasting no time for conflict. He himself will lead the start of the war.

Attired in his imperial robes with a lion skin cape and a golden crown fringed with a lion's mane, he will proceed through the streets of the capital. He will be attended by the highest chiefs wearing lion skins, carrying shields of hippopotamus hide and brandishing medieval spears.

"All men who possess their manhood, follow me," the Emperor will cry and his fires and drums will flash the word throughout his mountain kingdom.

Two solid trainloads of Ethiopian soldiers will leave Addis Ababa for an undisclosed destination, presumably to reinforce the emperor's frontier in the vicinity that is expected to see the "Second Battle of Adua."

The desertion of several thousand Somali tribesmen from the Italian army in Ogaden was confirmed today by an Austrian commander of Ethiopian troops in Geriogi, Major Joseph Jonker.

ITALY WARNS BRITAIN

With the Italian Army, Bolzano, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Warning to Great Britain to "go slow" at the League of Nations council session for consideration of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict next Wednesday was seen by political circles today in the communiqué of the Italian cabinet setting forth its case against Ethiopia.

After an extraordinary meeting here near the mimic battlefield, Il-Duce's cabinet stood before the world with: (1) An admonition to Great Britain that sanctions mean serious trouble; (2) A determination to attack Ethiopia at the council session, and, (3) Fundamental economic decrees to finance a war with the African Empire.

The cabinet gave assurance that British imperial rights would not be touched by the Italian program, but political circles found of great importance a paragraph in a communiqué which disclosed that Italy had already decided upon the military measures it would take in case of sanctions.

Decisions Agreed Upon

"In any event," said the communiqué, "the Fascist government fulfills its precise duty by making known to the Italian people that the problem of sanctions has been examined by the highest military authorities of the regime under all aspects and that as regards eventual sanctions of a warlike nature, decisions and measures necessary to face them have been taken already some time ago."

The military measures were not disclosed here officially, but well-informed circles say they include sending a large portion of the Italian fleet to Suez Canal waters in order to keep that channel open and powerful air concentration in Sicily and southern Italy facing Malta.

The communiqué is regarded as having placed the situation squarely up to Great Britain. The cabinet in one hand hold out an olive branch by saying Italy will not invade upon the British imperial rights, but the other hand holds a threat of "the gravest complications" if Britain insists on sanctions.

The cabinet decided on economic measures to finance the Ethiopian war. These include obligatory conversion of foreign credits and for-

VETERANS WAR WITH SPAIN TO RECEIVE CHECKS

Washington, D. C.—Increased compensation checks will be sent out Sept. 1 by the veterans' administration to about 210,000 Spanish-American war veterans and their dependents as the result of congressional action in restoring these claimants to the pension rolls. Some 15,000 other beneficiaries dropped by the economy act will be restored as fast as the bureau can reexamine their claims.

About 45 million dollars will be the annual cost of the increase approved by Congress and signed by President Roosevelt on Aug. 13. Administration spokesmen have estimated.

The 210,000 veterans and dependents will receive a 25 per cent increase in the next checks sent out, while the 15,000 completely severed from the beneficiary rolls by passage of the economy act will be returned to the same status they held at that time.

"INJURED" MAN FLEES HOSPITAL HERE LAST EVE

Captured by Police on Search for Him: Held for Investigation

A stranger giving the name of Vernon Springer, aged 27, and claiming to be a farm hand employed near Tampico, was picked up west of the city on the Lincoln Highway last evening by a motorist who found him lying near the edge of the paving at the top of Lord's hill. The motorist believing that the man was badly injured, took him directly to the hospital, where he left his passenger in the car while he went into the hospital to arrange for the supposedly wounded man being received.

When he returned to his car, his passenger was beating a hasty retreat from the scene. State Officers Mahan and Flach had been notified of the presence of the stranger along the highway and had started an investigation. They learned that he had been taken to the hospital and started for that institution. On East Second street, they met the fleeing stranger and took him in custody. He was taken back to the hospital, where examination disclosed a few slight bruises on the back. The stranger admitted that he had been drinking in Dixon during the afternoon and stated that he was walking toward Sterling with a companion, when he was hit by a passing car. He was removed from the hospital to a cell in the city jail and his companion was also taken in custody, both being held pending a further investigation.

Tramps Cause Alarm

At 8 o'clock last evening deputies from the sheriff's office were summoned to South Dixon township to investigate the presence of three rough looking strangers. One man was found lying beside the road and two others were discovered sleeping in a new straw stack in a field. Farmers had observed the trio and notified the sheriff's office. The men were brought to the county jail where they were held until this morning when they were provided with an escort out of the county. All three had been drinking heavily, the deputies stated, and earlier in the day had been ordered out of the city by the police, together with other tramps.

U. S. Treasury Failed, First Time in History, to Sell an Allotment of Its Securities

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The treasury today reported its first failure in history to sell an allotted amount of unconditional guaranteed securities.

Only $85,592,000 of tender were received for an offering of $100,000,000 of four-year 1 1/2 per cent bonds for the federal farm mortgage corporation.

"It wasn't so good," commented Secretary Morgenthau, declining to discuss the possible causes.

REPORT KARPIS ESCAPED BEING TAKEN AT RACE

Kidnaper Said to Have Eluded Federal Trap at Saratoga, N. Y.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Reports that Alvin Karpis, the notorious Minnesota kidnaper, escaped a Federal trap set at the height of the racing season here spread through Saratoga Springs today, but no confirmation was forthcoming from Federal or city authorities.

One of Karpis' supposed aides in the notorious Bremer kidnaping in St. Paul—William Elmer Mead—slipped through the hands of police at Northampton, Mass., July 12. Northampton is less than 100 miles from here.

The reports of Karpis' escape persisted in the night clubs of the Saratoga Springs area, and the Saratoga Springs Saratogian quoted an undisclosed "source close to Federal authorities" that Karpis had been traced to a farm house on nearby Loughberry Lake, but disappeared six hours before a Federal raid had been planned on Aug. 16.

The colorful racing season is the lure that drew Karpis to Saratoga Springs—if he actually was here—and, according to the night club reports, the criminal lost a good deal of money to the bookmakers during his three-day stay. The Saratogian says Karpis later was traced to Boston and Providence. This could not be confirmed.

Mean, one of Karpis' suspected lieutenants in the Bremer kidnaping is known to have been operating within 100 miles of the resort as recently as July 12, when he was arrested in Northampton, Mass., on traffic violation charges.

Under an assumed name, Mead posted $200 bond, and left the city without his automobile. A check of mutilated fingerprints on the car disclosed that its occupant had been the Karpis lieutenant, and that he also was noted in Jacksonville, Fla., in connection with a mail holdup.

Blood Transfusion Given Sen. Couzens

Rochester, Minn., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Senator James Couzens of Michigan was given a blood transfusion by Mayo Clinic physicians today.

Physicians said the senator had lost considerable blood in three operations, particularly in the final one, for removal of a kidney a week ago.

They admitted disappointment over the "progress he has made in the past two days."

The senator's blood pressure was low, the physicians said, and the transfusion was given "to further his recovery."

HEAD OF V. F. W. ATTACKS A. L.'S NAT'L. LEADER

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—James E. Van Zandt, Commander in Chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said today an opportunity for bonus legislation in the last months of the recent session of congress was lost because of the "petty attitude" of Frank N. Belgrano, American Legion Commander.

"Everyone familiar with the situation in congress knows that the Steiwer-Byrnes bill could have been enacted if it had been given the united support of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion in June or July or even in early August," his statement said. "When this fair and just compromise proposal was laid before me I readily agreed to approve it. For some reason beyond my understanding, Commander Belgrano refused to endorse the measure."

"I am confident that a so-called bonus law would be on the statute books today and the 3,500,000 veterans of the World War who hold adjusted service compensation certificates would be receiving their checks right now, if it had not been for the petty attitude of Commander Belgrano."

Fourteen Mexicans Killed in Clashes

Mexico City, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Fourteen death in political clashes in two states were reported in messages received here today, and a threatened situation was developing in Sonora.

A group of armed men rode into the town of Coyula, Vera Cruz, and opened fire on the residents, killing 12, advised from Jalapa stated. The attackers were identified as members of a party defeated in recent municipal elections.

Dispatches from Tabasco said that followers of the exiled state dictator, Tomas Garrido Canabal, killed two men in the town of Comalcalco and that Garridistas fired on townspeople of Cardenas, wounding six.

The Resolute headed for Port Said, Egypt, where it is due September 2. Present plans call for the ship to remain there until September 20.

The battleship Revenge is going to Alexandria, and then will head for Port Said, where it is scheduled to arrive September 21 and remain in port until September 30.

The sheriff, the prisoner, State's Attorney Sidney Dilks and Mrs. Young, over whose affections Young is said to have slain Rick Saturday night with a shotgun, reached here early today.

Young waived extradition and had little to say about the case. Sheriff Rheel said. No date of arraignment has been set.

Judge Francis Borelli of South State street court did not impose any penalty, pending a motion for a new trial. The charge carries a fine of from $25 to $5000, a jail sentence or from 30 days to six months, or both.

UNITED WAR ON CAPITALISM IS COMMUNIST PLAN

Moscow, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Resolutions by the recent Third Communist International congress, calling for a united front drive against capitalism, were published today, four days after the United States protest against activities of the congress.

The resolution instructed the Communist parties in individual countries to drive to bring the working classes "closed to the revolutionary assumption of power."

They declared the unwavering final aim of the Communists was the establishment of Soviet regimes, but said that until the time was ripe for it, the Communist parties should throw their support to movements designed to replace "bourgeois" governments of proletarian united front.

A resolution drafted by M. Hercole, an Italian delegate, and passed unanimously, said that a British attempt to build up a balance of power against the United States is "accelerating the outbreak of a world imperialist war."

FRAZIER-LEMKE BILL MADE LAW BY PRESIDENT

Provides 3-Year Farm Mortgage Moratorium by Courts

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today signed the Frazier-Lemke three-year farm mortgage moratorium bill, designed to replace the law declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court last spring.

The measure permits debt-burdened farmers to go into Federal court and obtain moratoriums of as much as three years on their mortgages. During that time their property, in effect, would be under court control.

Farmers are allowed to remain in possession of their land during the moratorium but must pay a "fair" rental either every six months or at the end of each year, as the court may decide.

At the end of the moratorium, property which has been protected by it must be re-appraised by the courts or on court order.

The farmers then may clear their land by payment of the appraised value. But if they fail to do so, secured creditors can obtain court orders directing that the secured property be sold at public auction.

Representative Lemke (R-N. D.), co-author, has described the act as giving "a breathing spell" to the farmers.

Roosevelt will sign the railroad pension act, probably late today. This was the measure revised to meet objections of the Supreme Court in throwing out the first such pension law.

The president was said by his assistants to have worked until well after midnight again last night on the mass of legislation still awaiting action.

He arranged to sign the Guffey bill for NRA standards in the bituminous industry tomorrow.

Approval of the wealth tax bill was also certain, although it has not completed the rounds of departmental inspection.

Yesterday the White House announced the president had signed more than 50 bills, including one prohibiting holders of government gold clause bonds from suing for damages after January 1, legislation ratifying interstate oil compacts and a measure to accelerate railroad reorganizations.

Condolence of Citizens of United States Wired King of Belgians by President Today

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today messaged Leopold, King of the Belgians, the American people "will share the grief of the Belgian people in the loss of a Queen who so graciously personified the ideals of Belgium."

Secretary Hull already had conveyed condolences to Prince Eugene de Ligne, Charge d' Affaires, on a visit to the Belgian embassy.

The president's message said: "Mrs. Roosevelt and I have been deeply moved at the tragic news of the death of Her Majesty, the Queen.

"We hasten to extend to your Majesty our heartfelt sympathy.

"The people of the United States will share the grief of the Belgian people in the loss of a Queen who so graciously personified the ideals of Belgium."

"I earnestly hope that your Majesty will rapidly recover from the injuries which I understand you have personally suffered.

"I send you my affectionate regards in this hour of your great sorrow."

THROWN FROM AUTO DRIVEN BY HUSBAND

Died in Arms of Injured Consort; All Belgium Mourns

(Copyright, 1935, By the Associated Press)

Kussnacht, Switzerland, Aug. 29.—Astrid, 29-year-old Queen of the Belgians, was fatally injured today when the automobile her husband, King Leopold, was driving, swerved off a country road and hit a tree.

She died within five minutes in her King's arms and with his lips on hers.

The King was only slightly injured.

Turned Head on Instant

Attendants who followed in another car said they saw their monarch turn his head for an instant, apparently admiring the mountain scenery, as he drove at a rate of between 50 and 55 miles an hour along the sunny road beside the lake called "Vier Waldstatter See."

The touring car swung to the side of the road, hit an eight-inch curb, and rammed into a tree, then rolled into the shallow lake just eight feet from the road.

All three of the occupants were thrown out of the automobile.

The Queen was thrown against another tree, fracturing her skull. The King's face was cut by the

A. P. FIRST AS USUAL

New York, Aug. 29.—The first news of the death of Queen Astrid of Belgium and the injury of her husband in an automobile accident near Lucerne, Switzerland, was flashed to member papers today by The Associated Press.

The "flash" moved at 5:05 A. M., Central Standard time, and was followed quickly with details of the tragedy.

smashing windshield. Momentarily stunned, he picked himself up and went to the side of the Swedish Princess he married nearly nine years ago.

Held Queen In Arms

Leopold held Astrid in his arms, kissed her again and again, and begged her to speak to him. She barely moved. It was impossible to tell whether she recognized him.

The cure of a village church just outside Kussnacht came to them. He administered extreme unction.

Then, as the King still held her close, Astrid died.

The King himself straightened her body and smoothed her clothes. The royal attendants, a gentleman-and-lady-in-waiting and the chauffeur of the car in which they had been riding, covered the still form with their coats.

The accident occurred at 9:15 A. M.

The full extent of the King's injuries was not immediately determined. A physician said he feared Leopold's jaw might be fractured.

In Deepest Grief

The doctor stated that, in any case, a fracture or a shock to the jaw would doubtless account for the King's inability to explain the cause of the accident himself.

The 33-year-old King's grief over the death of his wife was such that none presumed to question him further.

Later, however, he was able to talk. He told members of his entourage that he had taken his eyes off the road to glance at a map the queen was holding. He said she was sitting in the front seat beside him with the chauffeur in the rear.

King Gave Version

"I leaned over to look at the map," the members of the party said the King told them. "It lasted only a second, and when I looked again at the road, the car was almost on top of a tree."

The King said both he and the Queen were thrown out of the car at the first shock and that the Queen's head struck a tree, fracturing her skull.

REFLECTED GLORY

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

CHARLES Lamb, in one of his essays, tells of a man with whom he worked as a clerk for whose wife and himself life was only made possible by one fact, and even that fact was uncertain and dim.

In some devious way, which Lamb was never able to understand, much less explain, the wife traced her descent to "the illustrious but unfortunate house of Derwentwater," and on that fact they lived.

"This," he goes on to say, "was the solitary star of the lives of Thomas Tame and his wife." He was poor, obscure, dense of mind, dull of life, but the descent of his wife made him very proud and happy.

It was a remote fact, if fact at all, by any sort of hereditary certainty. But no matter it served him instead of riches, instead of rank, instead of glittering attainments, and was worth them together.

Years ago, while studying the life of Lincoln, a friend sent me to see a quaint, kindly talkative old man, thinking that some facts of interest and value might be gleaned from his reminiscences.

But no. All that anyone ever learned from the dear old soul was that he was a cousin of Lincoln—a third or fourth cousin, as best one could make out, though it took time and skill to pin him down.

Nor did he speak of Lincoln as the President, but as "my cousin," and he managed to bring in the relationship again and again, as he returned from wandering in a haze of utterly unreliable gossip.

A friend of mine spent a week-end in a tiny English village, the chief family of which had a remote ancestor who was taken prisoner by Joan of Arc; and the fact reflected glory on the entire village!

Such is the desire in human beings for glory, even if it be only a reflected glory, for some distinction to life them out of the blur and set them apart, though it be the distinction of someone else.

It is petty and pathetic, this grasping after a glint of glory, but all of us share it more than we are willing to admit—some secret pride, some crumb of vanity which makes us less of a cipher!

Employees Tendered Kaufman Farewell

Tuesday evening at Lowell Park the employees of Kline's department store enjoyed a beef steak fry, a farewell for Manager H. M. Kaufman, wife and daughter, who will leave the end of this week for Gallatin, O., where Mr. Kaufman will embark in business for himself.

During the evening the employees presented their popular "boss" with a pen and pencil set as a token of their appreciation of his consideration in directing their labors. The presentation talk was made by J. J. Passen, who will be acting manager of the store here after Mr. Kaufman's departure Saturday.

Strict Family

Budget Will Spare Quarrels and Money

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Every Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Miller had a row. Myrtle would weep and Walter would swear and the children would scuffle and hide.

It was all about Walter's pay envelope. Every week he gave Myrtle all his money except carfare and lunch money, and one dollar for beer. Out of the rest she had to meet expenses. It took managing, but she complimented herself on being a good manager.

About Thursday she began to shake the purse for the few pennies left. Friday there were lean pickings for meals; it usually was Friday that she needed carfare or new stockings to go somewhere. It seemed to be the day her friends invariably chose to have a party.

Another Quarrel

So Friday's worries and hurts usually carried overnight, and Walter's dollar for beer made the bruises ache. At one o'clock this Saturday, when her husband arrived and handed over the week's money, Myrtle was mad and mean. And then the fur flew.

Things were worse than usual. Walter had just said he couldn't work on soup and coffee, or beer and a sandwich at noon, and he would have to keep out another four bits.

"That's just an excuse," declared his wife. "Here I work and slave and look like a scarecrow when I go out. I never have any carfare even. Yesterday I stayed home from Madge's while you were swilling beer. It isn't fair. I can't stand it. I won't. I'm through." And so on.

He Gives In—Again

Walter said nothing for a while. It wasn't any use to tell her that he didn't smoke and that half the time he only took a sarsaparilla when he got so hot and tired he couldn't go on. And anyway, a fellow had a right to some things.

Eventually he said, "All right. Here, take it all. Give me what you like." Myrtle counted out the change and put the rest in a drawer.

Soon she was singing. The children heard the carol, knew that all was well and a banging of screens heralded their return.

"Say, Mama," said Ted, "that show the other day wasn't the one I meant. It's down at the Opal now. Can Jack and I go tonight?"

"Well—all right, I guess so," "And can we get some ice cream?" It's Saturday.

"I guess so."

"That's not fair," said Jane. "I told Edith I couldn't go. She took me last time and I owe her a show."

"Take her, then," said Myrtle.

A Budget Needed

That made more than three dollars for the week's entertainment and treats, counting the time their mother had taken them to the amusement park. Myrtle was one of the many people who do not realize how nickels, dimes and quarters count up. If any one had mentioned it she very possibly would have exclaimed, "Nothing of the kind. Those poor kids never get anywhere."

One plan is to budget each child and pro-rate his share of good-time money according to funds. As for dad and mother, it doesn't make sense for them to save at the spigot while the youngsters loosen the bung and run off with every extra cent available.

MAKING ASPARAGUS A SUBSTANTIAL DISH—

To make asparagus a substantial main dish, serve with a sauce concocted by mixing two tablespoons flour, two of butter and seasonings to suit and to this adding a cup and a half of hot milk. Let this mixture cook in a double boiler stirring constantly. Then add two hard-boiled eggs, well cut up. Put our asparagus on toast and pour hot sauce over.

REPERCUSSIONS FROM RHODE ISLAND
Events of the last hours of the session of congress were repercussions of the New Deal defeat in the recent elections.

The issue was cotton prices and textile mills.
We have said on previous occasions that cotton is king in this congress, for when the Democrats are in power the south is in the saddle.
Cotton prices of last year were pegged by a government loan of 12 cents a pound. The world market was less. Producers obtained loans at 12 cents and the government has the cotton at a price above the world market.

Textile mills have not been able to pay the pegged price and to compete. Closing of mills has resulted.
Processing taxes, price-fixing, and higher costs of operation forced by NRA all entered into the issues in the Rhode Island election.

It has been indicated that cotton senators understood from President Roosevelt that the 12-cent loan was to be continued. It proved to be just one more thing in which the senators misunderstood the president.

On the basis of that understanding, however, it is rumored that friends of the understanding senators went into the market and did some investing.

Then the president fixed the loan figure at 9 cents.
Cotton senators were roiled. They undertook to fix by law the rate of the loan, and to fix it at 12 cents.
Wheat never had been the basis of a loan, but by adding a 90-cent loan on wheat, enough votes were obtained to pass the amendment to the deficiency bill of appropriations. It was this action, which was held up in the house of representatives, that precipitated the crisis and prevented Saturday night adjournment.

Then followed a conference of president and senators, out of which came a pledge by the president to fix the loan at 10 cents and to guarantee producers 12 cents a pound, the difference payable out of the treasury of the United States. States not producing cotton will pay the subsidy to the cotton producing states.

The theory is that the Rhode Island and other New England textile mills will be able to buy cotton at 10 cents instead of 12 cents a pound and the producers, by grace of the United States treasury, will receive 12 cents.

Senator Huey Long inquired what assurance the senators had that President Roosevelt would keep his promise for a 10-cent loan "any more than he kept his promise for a 12-cent loan." But he kept on talking and no senator ventured to reply to this sally concerning the veracity of the president of the United States, a thing arising too often.

This loan to cotton producers is comparable to the loan on cribbed corn, one of the early acts of Roosevelt.
It bears similarity to action of the Hoover farm board, which directed purchases of wheat. Prices went down as production went up and the surplus held by the farm board was a weight on the price. In the case of corn the drouth removed the surplus and the government came out clear with its 40-cent loan. The Hoover farm board had no such luck. The AAA with its stock of cotton is in a position similar to that in which the farm board found itself. The government made the loan and the producers simply unloaded their cotton on the government, which now has it.

We repeat that in determining the fortunes of AAA and farm processes, it is well to watch operations in connection with cotton while the south is in the saddle. It is a little difficult for us corn and hog farmers to get our mind fixed on cotton, but for the moment it is worth while.

The Texas Weekly, an authority on cotton, says concerning the new policy of paying a subsidy on cotton:
"Criticism of the payment of a subsidy to cotton farmers is bound to come, and when it does come we shall not be surprised if Senator George, Senator Russell, Senator Bankhead, and other Democratic leaders from cotton states are found stoutly defending the new plan and supporting the thory that the payment of such a subsidy is justifiable on social grounds. Whatever else may be said, it is certainly true that it is better business for the government to pay a direct subsidy and get some of the cotton consumed than to lose the same amount by lending farmers more on their cotton than the cotton can be sold for."

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Text: Acts 20:33-35; Philippians
4:1-13.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Sept. 1.
By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

Paul, tentmaker, apostle, and first foreign missionary of the new Christian faith, is set before us
for study as "the worker with hand and brain." The great man has so many sides to his character that probably we should confine our study to these two aspects of Paul as worker.

The independent spirit of the man, as well as his sense of the craftsman, are evident in the few references that we have to his occupation.

It meant a great deal that the apostle of a new faith could say to those who were drawn to his ministry that he had no motive other than the glory and beauty of the gospel that he had brought to them. How often the motives that have occasioned
some great new movement in religion have been mixed!

One could hardly say that the leader in such movement has not been earnest or sincere, but one has felt that mingled with elements of sincerity were regard for reward and especially for money. The success of a man or a movement even in religion has sometimes been judged by the amount of money raised, and those who have admired success of that sort have not always been critical even if much of this money went to a leader himself or was under his own control.

One can think even of great movements that have been over-laden with their money appeal, and the result has been almost inevitably that such movements were materialized and lost much of their original fervor and spiritual reality.

It meant much, both to Paul personally in his independent spirit and to the work that he represented, that he was able to say "I have coveted no man's silver, or gold, or apparel," and that, on the contrary, he should point to his simple example in earning his own living, working at his trade as he had opportunity.

A man with such ideals must inevitably be something more than a worker of the hand. One thinks of a revolutionary shoemaker who said concerning himself, "Shoemaking is my occupation, but the propaganda is my calling." Paul's calling was the work of the Christian ministry—a work of brain and heart as well as of hand.

Into this work he put the same simple unaffected earnestness that he put into his work as a tent-maker. Zeal and thoroughness were his deepest characteristics, unless one speaks of the goal and purpose which these were applied to serve.

In this aspect, Paul appeals to us as a man of great originality of character. One may think of him in terms of a great empire builder or master of industry or business—a man always reaching out for some new field of interest and conquest.

The only difference was that Paul in all this outlook and outreach had in mind the extension of the Kingdom of God and not some goal of material conquest
or attainment of wealth, power,
or fame.

The glory of Paul as a worker, both with hand and brain,
was in the fullness of his consecration, alike to his task and to his mission.

If the world had more apostles like Paul it would have better workers; and if it had more workers like Paul, might it not have greater apostles?

The work of the kingdom and the finest work of the world go hand in hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Faley of

who can ride and lasso frisky steers?

"Well, no," the man replied.
"but, gee, you'll be as welcome
as can be. Why, when you learn to ride well, from my men you'll get real cheers."

The horses went on down the road, not one bit bothered by their load. Soon Windy pointed straight ahead and cried, "Is that your place?"

"You bet it is," the man replied.
"That's where we end our little ride. The horses know that they're near home, so they'll begin to race."

They found that he was right.
Each steed immediately picked up speed. They reached the ranch house and the Tinies hopped off to the ground.

Some little cowboys rushed right out to greet them. They began to shout a welcome. One said, "We are glad you go there
the safe and sound."

BOAT REGATTA ENTRY LIST IS GROWING HUGE

Depue Races on Labor Day To Exceed Other Years

DePue, Ill., Aug. 29.—(Telegraph Special Service)—Entries for the fourth annual Labor Day outboard
regatta to be held here on Lake DePue continued to pour in as the date for the race meet neared and predictions were that all entry records for the yearly classic would be shattered. The event has already brought entries from the most prominent drivers in the Mid-West circuit.

Many drivers, including some of those that placed in the huge Hearst regatta in Chicago two weeks ago, were listed as entrants
in the DePue event. Tommy Cooper
and Frank Davis, the Kansas City speed pair have placed their entries on file. Both Davis and Cooper placed in the money in the Chicago Gold Cup races.

E. A. Horner, the Brighton, Ia., veterinary, who has unofficially established a world mark for the five-mile Class B event at Dubuque, Ia., on July 4, plans to send his white speed craft over the waters of Lake DePue in hopes of bettering his mark of 46:153 M. P. H.
established at Dubuque race meet.
The official mark for the Class B event is 44:62 M. P. H. held by Dick Neal, Kansas City speed demon.

Lake Very Suitable
The suitability of the Lake De-Pue course for outboard racing has brought notes of commendation from practically every entrant to date. The wide, calm racing stretch gives ample opportunity for the "hell-divers" to blast away at existing speed marks. The race has the sanction of the Mid-West Outboard association and will be conducted by officials of that body.

An unusual event has been added to the races in the Class A, B and C events. It is the plan of the association to sponsor a Midget class race in which three youths of the surrounding district will participate. The lads will be between the ages of 12 and 17 and will meet the necessary weight requirements.
Winners of the DePue event will be sent to the divisionals and if successful there, to the sections.
The winners of the sectionals will vie for top honors at the annual National Outboard meet in Tulsa,

Okl. The lads will be strictly in the beginner class and will pilot boats furnished by the Mid-West association.

Prominent Drivers

Some of the most prominent drivers now on the entry lists for the DePue regatta are: Louis
Kitterman, Chicago; Wilbur Duran,
Chicago; F. J. Horejs, Chicago;
Frank Larson, Decatur; Herb Johnson, Rockford; Tommy Cooper,
Kansas City; Frank Davis, Kansas
City; Ralph Singer, Joliet; F. A.
Horner, Brighton, Ia.; Dewey Rhim,
Minneapolis; Paul Tearly, Muncie, Ind.; Frank McClanahan, Dixon;
and Cliff Gustafson, Chicago.

Other events that will feature the three-day Labor Day celebration and homecoming will be the staging of the one-mile American Legion swim on Sunday, Sept. 1 and an elaborate program of baseball and kittenball games throughout Saturday and Sunday. Entries for the mile swim-marathon have increased until it was predicted that twenty or more swimmers will vie for the handsome silver trophy that is to become the permanent possession of the winner. Entries may be placed with Dr. W. C. Steele, general chairman. Speaking, band concerts, and a huge carnival will pack the lake shore with other entertainment features throughout the three-day program.

Eastern Junior A. L. Team is Out Ahead

Gastonia, N. C., Aug. 29.—(AP)— Gastonia's Junior American Legion team needed only one more victory over the Sacramento, Calif. Juniors today to walk away with the National Sandlot baseball championship.

Gastonia, representing the eastern half of the United States, won the first game of the five-game series Tuesday 10 to 4, and came back yesterday to almost whitewash the western champions, 8 to 1.

Match Between Clang and Myrtlewood Off

Chicago, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Plans for a match race between Myrtle-wood, holder of the world record for six furlongs, and Clang, world mark holder at seven furlongs, at Lincoln Fields Labor Day, have fallen through. Brownell Combs of Lexington, Ky., owner of Myrtlewood, agreed to the race for a purse of $2500, but W. R. Salee, Clang's trainer, said the three-year-old had trained too poorly to beat his best for the engagement.

NEWS of the CHURCHES

ITALO-ETHIOPIAN

SERMONS AT OREGON
Next Sunday evening, G. E.
Marsh, pastor of the Church of God in Oregon, will begin a series of prophetic and historical sermons dealing with the Italo-Ethiopian situation upon which the eyes of the entire world are now anxiously focused. The Bible has much to say about Italy and Ethiopia, and Rev. Marsh believes that the prophets have foretold the future of these nations with astonishing accuracy.

A part of the lecture-sermon
will be illustrated with maps, charts and pictures thrown on a screen. The first number will be entitled, "The Church: Its Place and Influence in World Affairs." Other subjects to follow on succeeding Sunday nights will be "Ethiopia in History and Prophecy," "Italy in History and Prophecy," "World Developments of the Near Future Suggested by the Prophets," and "God and His Universe."

The average cost of making a movie film has been estimated at $400,000.

HEARST SAYS SMITH WOULD BE A 'POWER'

Anti-Roosevelt Move- ment Among Demo- crats Growing

Santa Monica, Cal., Aug. 29—(AP)—The name of Alfred E. Smith was thrust into the 1936 presidential outlook today by William Randolph Hearst's statement that the New Yorker "would make a powerful candidate."

Some Washington circles expressed amazement at the publisher's statement last night because of political enmity heretofore existing between Hearst and the "Happy Warrior" of many political battles.

Declaring that Smith was the Democratic presidential nominee against Herbert Hoover in 1928, is "the accredited leader of the genuine Democratic party," Hearst said he thought the New Yorker "would make a powerful candidate."

Referring to published reports that he would support the candidate of a proposed "Constitutional" Democratic party, Hearst said he did not know what party he would support. He said, however, he thought there "should be a Jeffersonian Democratic party in the field."

Talked for Months
The availability of Smith to lead an independent ticket or oppose President Roosevelt for renomination has been discussed in some quarters for months. The former New York governor has taken no public notice of the efforts in his behalf, but has appeared a critic of New Deal policies.

It was Hearst who was indirectly responsible for Smith's failing to dominate the 1932 Democratic nomination in Chicago. William Gibbs McAdoo, who rode into the United States senatorship in California on the Hearst-sponsored ticket with John Nance Garner at the top, started the swing to Roosevelt in Chicago when he threw the California vote to him.

Smith Barred Hearst
In 1922, when Charles F. Murphy, the late Tammany leader, backed Hearst for United States senator on the New York ticket with Smith running for governor, Smith turned thumbs down on Hearst. The result was that Dr. Royal S. Copeland, a writer for Hearst newspapers, was chosen for the senate and Smith.

Smith was termed by the publisher as being the Democratic party's "latest presidential candidate."

"His principles are the historic principles of the party," Hearst said in a statement which also appears in his newspapers in the form of an editorial.

"Associated with him should be some notable southern Democrat like Governor Ritchie, or Senator Byrd, or Governor Talmadge, x x x" The publisher's statement said he supposed "Mr. Roosevelt will be the nominee of the Socialist-Democratic party, but even that is not a certainty."

The accident and death of her husband seemed to weigh very heavily upon her mind to the extent that she was never able to get away from it. She stayed at home and did not participate in many social functions.

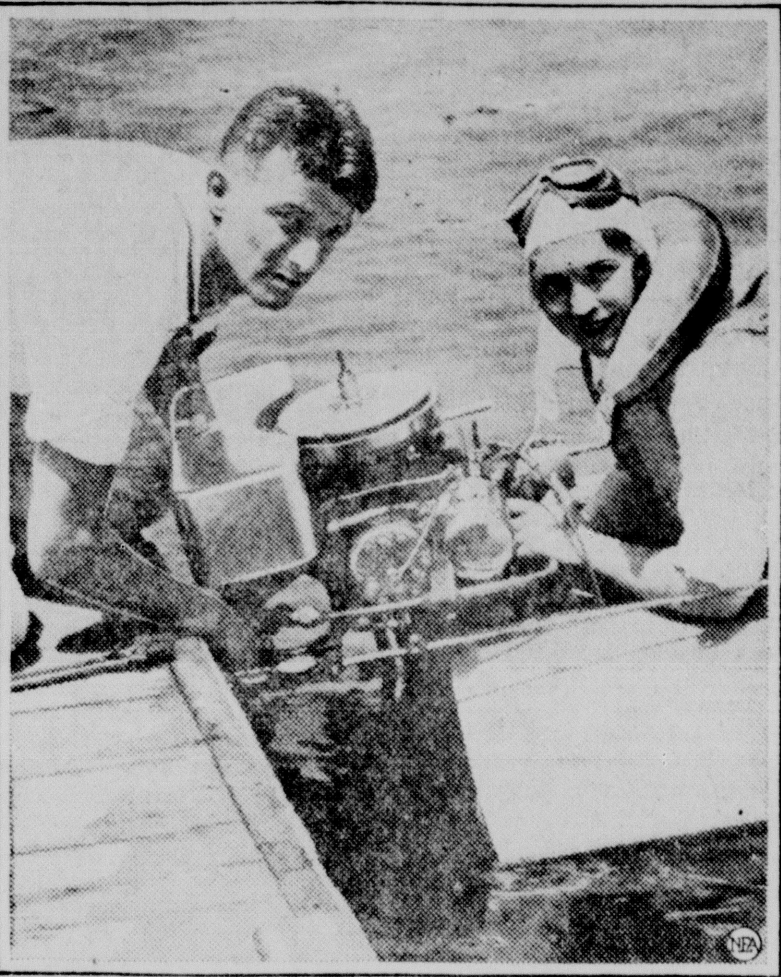

Those who knew her testify to the fact that she had a very kind and affectionate nature. We have no way of knowing the heart throbs suffered by one upon whom the tribulations of life were so heavy.

She has heard and responded to her Masters call. Her tired body is at rest and her spirit, broken with the disappointments of life has come back to the Great Heart of Love at the center of our universe.

ROGERS' ENTIRE TO GO TO WIFE: VALUE UNKNOWN

Will, Written Shortly Before Fatal Trip, is Filed for Probate

Los Angeles, Aug. 29—(AP)—Will Rogers' untold wealth was left to his widow, Mrs. Betty Blake Rogers.

The last will of the famous humorist, written just two days before he flew away from Los Angeles to join Wiley Post on their fatal air journey to Alaska, was filed for probate late yesterday.

The document, executed in simple language, contained about 275 words.

"I give, devise and bequeath all of my property, both community and otherwise, unto my said wife, Betty Rogers," it said in part.

While the comedian's fortune has been estimated at amounts ranging from $2,500,000 to as high as $5,000,000 the probate value merely put it in excess of $10,000 "the usual description made in such cases."

Final Steps Sept. 16
Final legal steps in connection with the will will be taken Sept. 16, when a routine hearing will be held in Superior Court.

The will provided that the estate be divided in event of Mrs. Rogers' death between the three Rogers children—Will, Jr., 23; Mary, 22, and James, 20.

"I hereby appoint my wife, Betty Rogers, O. N. Beasley of Beverly Hills, Oscar Lawler and James K. Blake as executors hereof," the will concluded. "Should my wife not survive me, I appoint my son, Will Rogers, Jr., in her place as such executor, and direct that no bond be required of my said wife or son as such executor."

"Dated August 3rd, 1935.
"Will Rogers."

Report Unconfirmed
Included in the Rogers' estate was insurance of about $800,000. While Edward McCullough, an attorney, said Rogers had a policy for $2,500,000 with Lloyds of London, this could not be confirmed. The attorney has handled business for Lloyds but he said he did not actually handle this particular policy.

Swett & Crawford, insurance brokers, said a $250,000 policy taken out by Rogers with a London com-

U. I. TRUSTEES CAN'T BE SUED KERNER DECIDES

Illinois Attorney General Issues Several Opinions Today

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29—(AP)—Attorney General Otto Kerner today ruled that the trustees of the University of Illinois can not be sued.

The opinion was sought by Sveinbjorn Johnson, legal counsel for the university, after a student was alleged to have died from injuries received in a boxing tournament at the university nearly a year ago.

Kerner said the trustees were not liable because the board is a governmental agency of the state, that it does not have power to compromise a claim in tort and there would be no appropriation available for settlement of such a compromise or suit.

The Attorney General declared the board of trustees was in the same category as counties and school districts, against whom the state Supreme Court has held there is no liability in tort.

Insure B & L Payments
In another opinion, Kerner held that building and loan associations organized under Illinois laws may insure payments of loans to shareholders by taking advantage of Federal savings and loan insurance incorporations.

Officials of Blackburn College of Carlinville, fearful they had been operating the past 33 years without a charter, were told by the Attorney General that recently uncovered old records were believed to be of no consequence.

Records of the Secretary of State were said by Michael Seyffert, state's attorney of Carlinville, who asked the opinion, to have revealed a certificate of cancellation of the charter of Blackburn was issued in 1902 for alleged failure to file the required annual report of its holdings.

Of No Importance
Also, in November, 1926, the Circuit Court of Marion county entered a decree dissolving Blackburn College upon a petition filed by the then Attorney General.

Due to subsequent change in laws governing corporations operated on a non-profit basis and the fact the state Supreme Court held the documents were merely prima facie evidence, Kerner said the dissolution orders were of no importance.

Kerner said the Marion county Circuit Court was without jurisdiction to enter the decree and he believed the court a nullity but suggested that Blackburn file a petition to expunge the order.

Administration Takes New Course for Tests of New Deal Statutes

Washington, Aug. 25—(AP)—Reversing legal tactics it used in fighting for the ill-starred NRA, the New Deal is seeking to expedite the supreme court ruling upon which the political future largely depends.

The shift was acknowledged today at the Department of Justice. Observers recalled that the government was in no haste to press a final test of NRA.

Now, however, justice department officials are seeking "early settlement" by the high court of the constitutionality of the AAA.

IOWA RETURNS TO ILLINOIS GRID SLATE

Hawkeyes Have Nineteen Returning Veterans

Champaign, Ill., Aug. 28.—Now that Iowa returns to the Illinois football schedule to open the Big Ten campaign and play the Dad's day game here on October 26, the Illini are listening with much interest to reports from Iowa City regarding the probable strength of the Hawkeyes.

In the Hawkeye stronghold there is considerable optimism and Iowa is regarded as a team of excellent possibilities which has a chance to become as surprising as the 1933 squad which capped its achievements by giving Purdue its first upset in 21 games.

The Hawkeye squad which will appear in the Illinois stadium looks big and powerful, including as it will 19 major lettermen from last season. The Iowa line will probably outweigh the Illini since four out of the seven veteran tackles and guards weigh at least 200 pounds.

Eight Good Backs
The Iowa nucleus includes eight rattling good backs, notably Capt. Dick Crayne, fullback who has been the leading Hawkeye ground-gainer and scorer for two seasons. The Illini will be drilled on a defense against the speed and elusiveness of Oze Simmons, fleet-footed Negro halfback, who may rank with the greatest backs of the nation if he can avoid the injuries which lessened his effectiveness last year. The Illini scouts were much impressed by Simmons' 47-yard return of a Northwestern punt for a touchdown and his 85-yard spring with an intercepted pass to score on Ohio State.

The Iowa feeling of optimism is heightened by the fact that many of the returning regulars were just starting to play their best football as sophomores last year when the season ended.

Appeared in 1927
The last appearance of the Hawkeyes at Illinois was in 1927 when the Illini champions repulsed them 14 to 0. The last game between the teams was at Iowa City in 1929 when they battled to a 7-7 tie.

This will be the first time that Ozzie Solem, Iowa coach, has matched wits with Bob Zuppke, Solem, after coaching Drake 11 years, succeeded Burt Ingwersen at Iowa in 1932.

Since the Illini play Southern California at Los Angeles October 12, some advantage may accrue to the Hawkeyes because of this long trip. Zuppke's men do not play October 19 but neither do the Hawkeyes, who have a stiff contest against Colgate set at Iowa City on October 12.

Illinois Football Captain Visited Telegraph Folk

CAPT. "CHUCK" GALBREATH

Chuck Galbreath, University of Illinois football captain for the coming season, paid a short visit to the Telegraph office Wednesday afternoon.

He is traveling around the state prior to the opening of school distributing Illinois football posters upon which the 1935 schedule is inscribed.

Chuck says Illinois' chances for a place in the sun in Big Ten competition this fall are good with nineteen lettermen in the fold. He anticipates Southern California as one of the Illini's hardest games but is looking forward to the trip west with a relish. "Ohio State and Michigan will test the mettle of the Illini," he said.

Season on Squirrels And Doves Will Open

State Conservation Inspector Charles Duis sponsored an announcement today which is of considerable importance to hunters who are planning to officially open the season Sunday, Sept. 1. The announcement concerned the hunting of doves, which under new state law, remains unchanged as to limit or other regulation. Guns do not have to be plugged for the shooting of doves. It was stated, but this is necessary for all other migratory birds. Squirrels and doves may be hunted with the opening of the season Sunday.

CARDS TIGERS SEEM WORLD SERIES FOES

Cubs Fumbled a Big Chance To Overhaul Giants

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer

The recent performances of a couple of young pitchers strengthen the impression that the Cardinals and Tigers again will meet in the world series this fall.

The Cards have Ed Heusser, who was almost relegated to the minors this season but stayed to become an important factor in their drive to first place. The Tigers have Roxie Lawson, who was farmed out to Toledo and came back in a few days ago to give the regulars a hand.

Heusser checked the Phillies 5 to 1 yesterday to help the Cards along to a double triumph that put them 2-1-2 games ahead of New York.

Giving the Phils eight hits, Heusser would have had a shut-out if George Watkins hadn't belted a homer in the first inning. The Cards next hammered out a 13 to 5 decision, coming from behind with a great nine-run rally in the sixth. Pepper Martin, who hit for the circuit in the opener, did the trick again with the bases loaded and Jim Collins followed with a circuit swat with two aboard.

Giants Beaten Twice
Meanwhile the second-place Giants took a double drubbing from Pittsburgh's Pirates, losing 6 to 1 to Cy Blanton's five-hit tossing, then going down 9 to 5 when Earl Grace slammed a boundary belt with three on base to overcome an early New York lead.

Lawson blanked the Athletics with four blows. The Tigers won 11 to 0.

Detroit's lopsided triumph didn't increase the Tiger lead, because the Yankees trimmed the Chicago White Sox in both ends of a bargain bill, 9 to 1 and 5 to 2.

Johnny Allen and Charley Ruffing turned in a pair of fine mound performances and Lou Gehrig clouted his 27th homer.

The Cubs lost a great chance to overhaul the Giants in the National league struggle when they divided a twin bill with the Braves. Wally Berger's 28th homer and Ben Cantwell's four-hit flinging gave Boston a 2 to 1 decision in the opener, but Chicago

Harmon Clings To S-Ball Lead In County Loop

Harmon continues to lead the Lee County Farm Bureau softball league. Nelson rates second.

Last week West Brooklyn forfeited to Lee Center and Harmon downed Hamilton 14 to 6. Nelson downed Dixon 3 to 0. Wadsworth on the hill for Nelson hurled a no-hit no-run game. Nachusa romped over Amboy 23 to 12 in a free-scoring tilt and Brooklyn forfeited to Dixon as Nelson won from Harmon 8 to 6.

Remaining games beginning August 30 involve Amboy vs Borden of Dixon, Nachusa vs Nelson, and September 4, Nelson vs Hamilton and Amboy vs Lee Center. On September 6, Nachusa will face Brooklyn and Dixon collides with Harmon.

League standing:

W	L	Pct.
Harmon	7	3 .700
Nelson	8	4 .666
Hamilton	7	4 .636
Dixon	7	5 .583
Lee Center	6	6 .500
Nachusa	6	6 .500
Amboy	5	7 .416
Brooklyn	0	11 .000

came back behind Lon Warneke to win 5 to 2.

Brooklyn won the other National league clash, beating the Reds 4 to 2. Only 503 cash customers were there to see it.

The Indians took a firmer hold on third place in the junior circuit, beating the Red Sox 2 to 0 as Thornton Lee outpitched Bob Grove, then winning 3 to 1 behind Mel Harder.

Washington and St. Louis divided their twin bill, the Senators batting out a 10 to 2 triumph behind Ed Linke and the Browns winning a speedy second game 2 to 1 as Ivy Andrews and Jack Russell both pitched six-hit ball.

All-Stars Hoping For At Least a Moral Win

Chicago, Aug. 29.—(AP)—It's up to the Chicago Bears tonight. Once more they will attempt to prove something they couldn't do a year ago—that a good professional football team can whip a prize band of college stars.

Last year they tried to prove it at the expense of a select aggregation of 1933's greats. To their great surprise and greater chagrin they had to settle for a scoreless tie.

Tonight at 7:30 (SCT) they will tackle the college All Stars picked by the fans as the senior standouts of the 1934 campaign before a throng of 85,000 on the scene of their failure of last year. Soldier field, and their task figures to be no easier than it was last year.

Arrayed against the professionals will be everything in the way of talent for which a coach could ask. All parts of the country have sent their greatest stars—fleet running backs, line crashing backs, sharpshooting forward passers, polished kickers, operating behind a big, fast crew of linemen.

Want Good Showing
A good showing, even in defeat, would be satisfactory for the All Stars. The Bears, however, will be after a lop-sided triumph to make the fans forget about last year's upset by the collegians.

The announcement of the probable battlefront gave the Bears a large physical edge. The line named by Coach George Halas averages 219 pounds. The back, Bernie Masterson, Beattie Feathers, Johnny Sisk and Jack Manders, average 204.

The All Stars lineup, tentatively named by Frank Thomas, Alabama, head of the board of strategy, has a line averaging 19 pounds, with the backs averaging three pounds less.

Thomas' plans for Miller Munjas, Pittsburgh, at quarterback, with Bill Shepherd of Western Maryland, who topped the nation's scorers last season, and Al Nichlini of St. Mary's, at the halves, and Stan Kostka, Minnesota's pile-driving fullback, to complete the quartet.

Both coaches indicated that wide open football would be used and each predicted a free scoring battle.

Women's Marathon Lake Ontario Today

Toronto, Aug. 29.—(AP)—With $1000 awaiting the winner, nearly a score of women swimmers, 12 of them from the United States plunged into the chilly waters of Lake Ontario today in the Canadian national exhibition's annual five-mile swim.

The field ranged in ages from 11-year-old Marion Bump, of Baraboo, Wis., who entered with her mother, Mrs. Everett E. Bump, to Mrs. Bertha Bolany, 34-year-old Cleveland mother and veteran of many a marathon swim. It also included May Looney, the Warren, O., girl who led the swimmers home last year.

AUTOMOBILE accidents increase sharply each year as the autumn months approach. It is timely to urge extra care in operating cars, extra caution in crossing streets and walking on highways.

September and December, each with five Sundays and a holiday, are likely to be the most dangerous months of the year, with October and November showing up nearly as badly.

The record of last year was disastrous, for 954,000 persons were injured and 36,000 were killed. This year's record is nearly as bad so far.

Thrown From—

The royal attendants said the King's automobile rebounded, struck a second tree, then hurtled into the lake with the chauffeur still inside.

The latter climbed out and waded ashore with only minor cuts. The attendants, whose car was about one minute behind the royal couple, found the King and Queen lying by the side of the road.

Peasants nearby immediately telephoned to Kussnacht for help. A doctor arrived within five minutes after the Queen had died.

Leopold kissed the dead Astrid once more, then was taken away in the doctor's car to have his wounds dressed. Afterwards he was taken to the Villa Haslihorn to which, at the same time, the Queen's body was taken in another car.

After her King had gone, Astrid's body lay beside the fatal tree. Still covered with the coats, it was watched for a full hour by the bareheaded members of the household, peasants, villagers, and gendarmes. Then it was removed by an undertaker.

The chauffeur, originally reported as only slightly hurt in the crash, was later found to be in a serious condition and physicians said they feared he might die.

Near Legendary Spot
Kussnacht is a popular resort which stands at the head of a small lake "Vier Waldstätter See" near the spot where the legendary William Tell was reputed to have shot the tyrant Gessler.

The Queen, with her two small children, had been at Lucerne several weeks. The King had just arrived. The third child, baby Prince Albert, remained in Brussels.

Queen Astrid would have been 30 on November 17. She was married almost nine years.

Queen Astrid and King Leopold were vacationing in the Alps when King Albert was killed while mountain climbing.

The royal family had been living at the Villa Haslihorn at the village of Horw, three miles south of Lucerne.

At the villa, the reception room was cleared and the Queen's body, in its casket, was placed on black-draped trstles. Candles were arranged and the members of the household took up the death watch.

King Sent to Bed
The King, suffering not only emotional shock but cuts and bruises, was ordered by Dr. Steingger, the physician who had rendered him first aid, to go to bed.

Doctors found the chauffeur's legs were broken and that he was so badly bruised, possibly internally, that he may die.

A further investigation at the scene of the accident showed that a large stone at the roadside may have been the cause. When the King looked up at the scenery, the car turned to the edge of the road, striking the stone. It was believed probable that the impact was so violent the occupants were thrown out.

At the spot, the road is only 8 feet from the lake, and the car ran down a slight grade to the water.

WHOLE NATION GRIEVES

Brussels, Belgium, Aug. 29—(AP)—Tiny Belgium was plunged into deepest grief for the second time in less than two years by reports of the tragic death of Queen Astrid near Lucerne, Switzerland, where she had gone with the King for a holiday.

King Albert, the beloved ruler who had heroically led the nation through the darkest days of the World War, was killed while mountain climbing at Marche les Dames, February, 17, 1934.

Queen Astrid, beautiful Swedish princess who was barely past 21 when she married Leopold, then the Belgian crown Prince, Duke of Brabant, quickly won her way into the hearts of the Belgians.

Her home life and her solicitude for the nation's poor and distressed brought her the admiration from high and low of the little nation.

Distributed Supplies
Court attaches recounted recently how she spent many hours with her own hands speeding distribution of relief supplies to economic sufferers, especially among the distressed of the mining areas.

The Belgian housewives and mothers had taken Astrid as their national model. She was especially adept with the needle and enjoyed cooking.

Brussels mothers on a number of occasions have seen the Queen pushing a perambulator through the public park airing the royal baby just like any commoner mother in the Capital.

The day after she came to Belgium in 1926 as Leopold's bride, Astrid accompanied her husband at the annual ceremony at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Endeared Himself
This simple gesture endeared her immediately to the Belgians whose memory of the World War days still is vivid.

So beloved was the Queen that the nation even copied her characteristic gesture of greeting—a wave of the hand with the knuckles outward—which has come into popular use throughout the country.

By a tragic coincidence, Astrid met her death in the country in which she and Leopold were vacationing were informed of the death of Leopold's father, Albert.

Leopold had been enjoying his skiing holiday when the urgent message from Brussels brought him the fateful news of his father's death, and that he had become the King of the Belgians.

Minister Wept
The chief of the foreign ministry, tears welling in his eyes released to the public confirmation of the news received from Lucerne.

Maintaining his composure with difficulty, the official whispered: "Yes, it's true. The Queen is dead."

Then he turned immediately to the urgent task of summoning the cabinet for an extraordinary session in the afternoon.

Premier Paul Van Zeeland was in Brussels but a number of the cabinet ministers were out of the city holidaying.

The cabinet will meet as soon as all the ministers return to town in response to the urgent messages telephoned and telegraphed to them.

Officials Overwhelmed
Government officials were overwhelmed when they learned of the news, and apparently had difficulty knowing which way to turn in the new grief which had been brought upon the nation.

The first reports to reach Brussels, which spread like wildfire from mouth to mouth, was that both the King and Queen had been killed.

The official government announcement, however, informed the nation that their beloved King had been injured but not seriously. Queen Mother Elizabeth, who was the object of nationwide sympathy since the tragedy early last year which broke her health, still is in Pisa, Italy, where she has been for several months, seeking to regain her strength.

Word of the Queen's death reached the stock exchange shortly before its scheduled opening. Immediately all operations were ordered to be stopped, and an extraordinary committee was appointed to consider closing the exchange as testimony of their sympathy.

Women Spread News
The news continued spreading from neighbor to neighbor, soon reaching the outskirts of the city where housewives ran from door to door carrying the word to those Belgians who had neither radio nor telephones.

Incredibly at first greeted the news, but the appearance of newspapers soon brought confirmation of the accident in Switzerland.

Throughout the nation, the Belgian flag was lowered to half staff. A great flood of telegrams and cablegrams of condolence poured into the royal palace.

Among the first to express his sympathy with the Belgian nation was Premier Laval of France who was talking from his office in the Quai d'Orsay with the charge d'affaires of the Belgian embassy in Paris when the official word of Queen Astrid's death was received.

The French Premier immediately switched over his call to the government offices and expressed his personal sympathy to Premier Van Zeeland.

Ambassador Dave Hennen Morris of the United States, who heard the news while receiving several Americans for luncheon, called at the foreign office in the afternoon and later went to the royal palace to sign the book placed there in which callers might record their sympathy.

PARENTS PROSTRATED

Stockholm, Aug. 29—(AP)—Aging Prince Carl and Princess Ingeborg mournfully chartered an airplane today to fly to Lucerne, Switzerland, to join the grief-stricken husband of their daughter, Queen Astrid of the Belgians.

They were almost prostrated by the word of the automobile accident in which their daughter was killed. They regained their composure quickly, however, and it was Princess Ingeborg, herself, who asked the plane be chartered. They expected to take off for the south after a rest of a few hours.

The news had been broken to them at their country home at Fridhem, the scene of many happy family reunions of former years. Princess Astrid used to romp there with her sisters. Since her marriage to Leopold she had brought her children there for an annual visit with their grandparents.

Citizens Weep Openly
Grief of the Queen's parents was shared by the citizens of Stockholm who wept openly in the streets of the Capital as they learned of the death of their beloved Astrid.

The Belgian Queen had the undisputed reputation in this, her native land, as the most beloved of Swedish princesses.

No single event in years has so stunned Sweden. Men and women wept unashamed tears as they read first accounts of the death in hurriedly prepared newspaper extras.

Business in Stockholm was momentarily halted as word of the accident first spread about. Workmen dropped their tools to read the newspaper accounts. Many openly declared that Astrid's marriage to Leopold was the most perfect love match in the history of Swedish royalty.

Memories Recalled

Memories were recalled of the days when the handsome young Belgian prince, courting the dark-haired Astrid, traveled incognito in a third class railway carriage from Brussels to Stockholm that he might spend a few hours alone with the girl of his choice.

No princess had a more democratic training than Astrid. Her education a classical one, included a course in housekeeping and cooking. Many visitors to Prince Karl's home in days gone by had tea served by the young Princess.

News of her death also shocked Norway and Denmark, where flags were immediately ordered at half-mast while extra editions of newspapers were sold out as soon as they had been run off the presses.

ITALIANS SHOCKED

Rome, Aug. 29—(AP)—Shocked by the death of Queen Astrid of the Belgians, Italy turned immediately to Il Duce himself to break the tragic news to the Italian royal family.

A government spokesman said:

"This is terrible news. The whole nation will mourn the accident deeply as will the Belgians. Everyone knows how we love our King and his family. Any tragic occurrence to them will be burned deeply in the hearts of the Italian people."

(Princess Barle Jose of Belgium, sister of King Leopold, is the wife of Crown Prince Umberto, of Italy.)

The ministry of press and propaganda, first to hear of the accident, made immediate contact with Il Duce who is conducting war maneuvers near Bolzano under the eye of the King. It was expected Il Duce himself would tell the soldier monarch.

To Tell Queen's Mother
It was understood here that the task of informing Queen Mother Elizabeth of Belgium, who has been living with the Italian royal family, would devolve upon the King himself.

The Queen Mother, stricken by the death of King Albert in February, 1934, has spent most of her time in Italy with her daughter since an accident on a mountain climbing expedition robbed her of her royal consort.

Pope Pius, from his summer palace at Castel Gandolfo, immediately telegraphed the Belgian royal family his condolences and benediction.

Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, and a delegation of Cardinals, called at the Belgian embassy to present their condolences.

SUEZ CANAL IS GATEWAY TO THE ORIENTAL LANDS

Unlike Panama It Isn't Under Control of Any Government

Washington, D. C. — Slicing through the narrow peninsula that links Africa and Asia, a short cut to the Orient that has made dreams of ancient conquerors come true, the Suez Canal is now a focus of world attention as Italian troops and munitions of war pour through it on the way to East Africa.

This 100-mile waterway, which enables ships to steam directly between the Mediterranean and Red Seas without making the tedious voyage around Africa, forms the link pin connecting the trade route of the Eastern Hemisphere, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Saves Thousands of Miles
For ships of all European nations trading with the Orient and East Africa, the canal is a tremendous saver of time and distance. Typical comparative distances in miles are:

Via Around Canal Africa
London to Bombay . . . 7028 12,548
Hamburg to Bombay . . . 7382 12,903
Trieste to Bombay . . . 4616 13,229
London to Hong Kong 11,112 15,229
Istanbul to Zanzibar . . . 4365 10,271 (East Africa)

"From a commercial standpoint, the Suez Canal is of greater importance to Great Britain than to any other nation. In 1933 more British ships pass through it than those of the next seven largest users of the canal combined, and the tonnage represented was in a similar proportion.

"Egypt, through whose territory the canal runs, is an independent nation, although a garrison of about 12,000 British troops is stationed there and in the Angle-Egyptian Sudan to the south. Egypt was a British protectorate from 1914 to 1922. When her independence was recognized by Great Britain, it was agreed that Egyptian national defense should remain under British control.

"Various international agreements have provided that the Suez Canal should remain open at all times to the vessels of all nations. During the World War, however the canal was garrisoned by British and French military and naval forces and closed to ships of the Central Powers, though it remained open to neutral shipping. In 1922, during a crisis in Egypt, the Canal was closed by British troops for four days.

No Government Control
"Unlike the Panama Canal, which is directly controlled by the United States government, the Suez Canal is a private business concern. No nation has direct authority over it. The Canal is owned and operated by the Suez Canal Company (Compagnie Universelle du Canal Maritime de Suez), a French organization which holds a concession from the Egyptian government expiring in 1968.

"Fifty-two per cent of the shares in this company are held by French investors, 44 per cent by the British government, and the remainder in other European countries. On the board of directors are 21 Frenchmen, 10 Englishmen, and one Dutchman. The British government's shares originally were held by the Khedive of Egypt but were sold by him to England in 1875 for $20,000,000.

"Builder of the canal was Count Ferdinand de Lesseps of France, known also for the failure of the later attempt to build a canal at Panama in the 1880's. The Suez Canal, however, was a success once its sponsors had overcome diplomatic obstacles and early financial troubles. Strangely enough, de Lesseps' efforts to gain consent to the building of the Canal from the Sultan of Turkey, to whose empire Egypt then belonged, were opposed by the British government.

"Work on the canal was begun in 1859 and it was opened to traffic ten years later with a lavish celebration given by the Egyptian Khedive and attended by the Empress Eugenie of France, the Emperor of Austria and other royal personages. In 1934 the canal was used by 5663 vessels. This compares with 5533 ships which used the Panama Canal during the fiscal year ending in June, 1934.

Canal Has No Locks
"Unlike the Panama waterway, the Suez Canal has no locks and is built at sea level. At the Mediterranean end is Port Said, named for Said Pasha, Egyptian Viceroy when the canal was built. The city stands on a low, sandy coast; its harbor made muddy by waters of an arm of the Nile which reaches the sea nearby.

"From the smaller city of Suez, at the canal's southern end, can be seen the mountains of the Sinai Peninsula, one of which is said to be Mt. Sinai of the Bible. Some believe that the crossing of the Red Sea by the Children of Israel may have taken place near the southern end of what is now the canal, when the Red Sea extended farther inland.

"From the dawn of history traders and soldiers alike have dreamed of a water route across the Isthmus of Suez. The Egyptians, from 1350 to 1300 B. C. dug a canal which joined the Nile river with the Red Sea by way of Lake Timsah. Eventually this became choked with sand, but another canal was begun about 600 B. C., again joining the Red Sea and the Nile.

"This remained navigable until the time of the Battle of Actium in 31 B. C., when it is said that some of Queen Cleopatra's ships escaped by it to the Red Sea after their defeat by the Romans. Later the route was restored twice, once by the Roman Emperor Trajan and again in the 7th century A. D. by Amru, Islamic conqueror of Egypt."

DAILY HEALTH

HEARING AIDS

Hearing aids are of real value to the deafened person, especially when the spoken voice can no longer be heard without straining. There are two principal types of hearing devices; non-electrical and electrical.

The non-electrical type works on the principle of a "sound collector." It is, in fact, an enlarged ear, which is brought close to the source of sound. This type of hearing aid is highly efficient because it does not distort the sounds entering into it. Because of its conspicuousness, however, it is not popular, and one rarely sees a deafened person using the old-fashioned ear horn.

Electrical or telephonic devices are much more commonly used. They have been in use for a long time, and in recent years have been much improved. Yet most electrical devices now available have one failing in common—they tend to distort the sounds received.

Electrical hearing aids can amplify sounds received to great loudness. Those aids which employ vacuum tubes constitute miniature radio receiving sets and can magnify enormously the sounds received. However, great amplification is not always an advantage and when the instrument distorts sound, it may actually become a disadvantage.

A drawback to the use of electrical hearing aids is the extraneous noise which enters the instrument and these noises which at times arise within the instrument itself. The latter usually are due to faulty or improper connections, defective batteries, and so on.

A recent advance in electrical hearing aids is the development of a bone conduction receiver. This type of receiver transmits vibrations to the bones of the head.

There are at least 30 electrical or telephonic devices on the market. In choosing a hearing device, one should have the guidance and advice of an experienced physician.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

100 YEARS AGO

One hundred years ago today, August 29, Abram Van Epps Christ-tiance, then twenty-seven years of age, with his wife and small son William, natives of Schenectady, N. Y., arrived at Melugin's Grove, in Brooklyn township, section three.

There they built a rude log cabin which was the birthplace of a son, Cornelius Everett, born September 29 of that same year being the first white child to be born in the township.

The trip from Schenectady was made in a prairie schooner.

With the addition of a few rooms his log cabin became an inn, also post office, as his farm was located on the Chicago-Galena stage route. During the early tide of immigration many new settlers on their way to their new homes stopped for a night's lodging together with meals for which they paid a nominal price of expense.

As yellow corn meal was the chief article of diet in those days any newcomer who could offer a new way of serving it was very graciously thanked and his "keep" at the tavern was considered paid in exchange for this valuable information.

Mrs. Christiance was able to serve upon her table many kinds of wild game which was often furnished her by her Indian neighbors, a few struggling Backhaws that were permitted to make their shelter in the woods on the north side of the farm, and on many cold nights could be seen sitting upon the cold floor of the inn.

The strong friendship that existed between this early family and the Indian lasted as long as one remained.

Four sons of this family grew to maturity and all served throughout the Civil War: William, Cornelius, Everett, James and George. A daughter Mrs. Caroline Christiance Little, widow of the late Andrew Little of Compton takes great pleasure in relating these early experiences how her parents during the bygone day, she being the only living child of these pioneers.

Mrs. Fannie Christiance of Dixon, daughter of the late George Christiance who passed away in 1923 and her husband Ralph Dixon purchased the old homestead from her father's estate in 1925 her father having purchased it in 1895 from his father's estate. This farm is one of the few farms of the county that has remained in the same family for one hundred years.

Sincerely,
Fannie C. Dixon.

CHIEF OF THE FOREST

FEARED and revered is the leopard by the natives of French Middle Congo and other parts of western Africa. When a native kills one, he is brought before his chief for punishment. But, in ceremonial fashion, the native pleads the animal was chief of the forest and a stranger.

Thus the man is set free and even rewarded for his bravery. But the dead leopard is adorned with a bonnet worn by the tribal chief, set up in the village square and there made the center of a series of nightly dances.

The reverence by which the leopard is held by the African Negroes is carried out on two stamps issued by France for its territories of the Congo and the Middle Congo, which in 1919 became a separate colony. The leopard stamp of the latter is shown below.

NEARLY What great choral composition does Germany honor in a stamp?

WALTER MOSES MOST VALUABLE OF NEW PLAYERS

Athletics' Injured Outfielder Leads Poll Conducted by AP

New York, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The cheerful bit of news today for Wally Moses, sensational young outfielder of the Philadelphia Athletics whose career was abruptly checked by an arm fracture, is that the baseball writers consider him the outstanding major league rookie.

This distinction goes to the Texas league recruit, not as any consolation prize, but on the merits of his freshman performance in rivalry with one of the greatest crops of first-year regulars developed in a blue moon. Exactly 28 players, playing regularly this year for the first time if not actually getting their first peek of the big show, received mention in a poll conducted by The Associated Press to determine opinion on the outstanding rookies.

Moses received 28 votes of a maximum of 63 cast by major league writers. The speedy young outfielder, who broke into the A's lineup on opening day and had a batting mark of .326 for 85 games when he broke his arm in Chicago nearly two years ago, enjoyed a comfortable margin over all other fly-chasers, including Hank Leiber of the Giants, who collected 14 votes.

Clyde Clendenen, young right-hander of the Giants, was voted the year's outstanding rookie pitcher in a close contest with Pittsburgh's brilliant Darrell (Cy) Blanton. Clendenen won, 24 to 19, and was the nearest rival of Moses in total vote.

Distinction as the outstanding recruit infielders goes to Lou (Bozie) Berger, Cleveland second baseman and a New Orleans graduate, with 15 votes. He emerged on top in another close contest, leading Jimmy Bucher of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Phil Cavarretta, young first sacker of the Chicago Cubs, who finished with 12 and 11, respectively.

Tied for honors as the American League's freshman pitching ace, in the opinion of the experts, are two members of the staff of the Chicago White Sox, John Whitehead and Vernon Kennedy.

Cincinnati, which made the year's leading experiment in new talent, led the list in the number of players mentioned, with four. Shortstop Billy Myers and Outfielder Ival Goodman were rated the best of the Redland crop.

FOREST HILLS TENNIS MEET BEGINS TODAY

Perry Doesn't Play Until Tomorrow; Jacobs Today

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 29.—(AP)—The leading racquet wielders from nine nations converged on Forest Hills today in quest of the United States men's and women's singles championships.

England's Fred Perry, world's No. 1 ranking player, will not get into action tomorrow but Helen Jacobs, champion of the women for three years, was scheduled to play the second match on the famous stadium turf. She drew as her first round opponent Mrs. H. Walter Blumenthal, of New York, the former Baroness Maud Levi, whose court experience should give Helen a chance to tune up all her strokes.

Sixty-six matches were listed for the opening day. Thirty-four in the men's division will cut the field to 64 players for the second round while 32 will slice the women's field exactly in half.

Wilmer Allison, veteran Austin, Tex., player and ranked at the top of the U. S. seeded list drew as his first opponent Henry C. Brumie, New York. Gene Mako, Los Angeles, and Berkeley Bell, New York, also play their opening matches on the stadium turf. The former meeting Jacques Brugnon, France, and the latter, Manuel Alonzo, Spanish veteran from New York.

WORLD'S HORSE-SHOE PITCHING TOURNEY OPENS

Over 100 Contestants Start Play at Moline Courts Today

Moline, Ill., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Ted Allen of Alhambra, Calif., opened defense of his world horseshoe pitching championship on the Riverside courts here this morning as more than 100 of the leading ringer tossers of the United States and Canada sought to qualify for the 24 places in the finals of the national tournament.

Each contestant was permitted to pitch 200 shoes in groups of 100 with the higher score of each 100 determining his position in the tournament. Twenty-four pitchers will qualify for match play, while the second high 24 will be eligible to compete in the night tournament sponsored by the Moline Dispatch. Match play starts at 1 P. M. tomorrow.

Among the entrants are two full-blooded Indians from London, Ont. They are John Riley and John Simmons, Dominion champions in 1929 and 1933. With them is Fred Harbourn of Stratford, Ont., 1934 title holder.

Chief contenders for Allen's crown are C. C. Davis of Kansas City, former world's champion who was runner-up to the Californian in the midwest championships at Des Moines earlier this week, and Jimmy Risk of Montpelier, Ind., who tied for fifth at the 100wa meet.

Ellis Griggs, of Plainville, Ill., recent winner of the Illinois title and one of three who tied for second honors in the Des Moines event, also was listed as a likely winner of high honors in the national meet.

Two of the youngest pitchers in the United States were entered in the title quest—Charles (Casey) Jones of the Waukegan, Wis., Wisconsin champion, and Larry Mahoney of New Jersey, winner of the eastern open. Jones is 16 and Mahoney only 15.

Buddy Baer, Doyle To Move Indoors

New York, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Taking no chances of being defeated by the second time by Jupiter Pluvius, those two crooners of the fight ring, Buddy Baer and Ireland's Jack Doyle, will move into Madison Square Garden tonight for their six-round engagement. The fight originally was scheduled to be held in the Garden's bowl last week but was rained out.

The planet Jupiter has nine moons, four of which are so large that they have been seen with the naked eye. Exceptional eyesight is necessary for such a feat, however, earth's surface.

UPSETS STREW WOMEN'S GOLF TITLE HORIZON

Mrs. Vare Dominates the Field As Usual; Few Rivals

Minneapolis, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Upsets were strewn all over historic Interlachen today—the medalist and half of the tournament's "Big Six" were on the sidelines—but the familiar figure of Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare loomed bigger than ever on the national women's golf championship horizon.

Golf is golf, a sport in which upsets are as frequent as slices and hooks, but between Glenna and her sixth championship in 13 years couldn't be found a single woman who ever won a decision over her cool, precise game.

Definitely back on her game, she had plenty of work ahead of her, but who could stop her no one could hazard unless it would be two veterans who have been trying to stop her for years—Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City or Charlotte Glutting of West Orange, N. J., who removed Marion Milley of Lexington, Ky., the one girl whom the galleries pinned their hopes on yesterday. On the sidelines with Miss Milley was another dangerous contender, Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews of Coral Gables, Fla., the MacDonald Smith of women's golf.

Mrs. Vare, who has been in the finals seven times since 1922, a semi-finalist three times and medalist twice, faced Elizabeth Abbott of Los Angeles in the quarter-finals over 18 holes today. Miss Abbott never before an important contender, had a chance and even won some backers on the strength of her game yesterday when she shot a 35, two under men's par, on the front nine to score an ultimate 6 and 5 victory over Mrs. Austin Pardue of Minneapolis, the largest margin of the day. Glenna turned in the second largest edge by defeating Fritz Stifel, Wheeling, W. Va., 4 and 3.

Expect Hot Duels

But all down the line in the three other matches, all over 18 holes and starting in the afternoon, sizzling duels were anticipated.

Marion McDougall, 21-year-old Portland, Ore., girl who beat back a great comeback by Mrs. Crews on the final nine, to defeat her 1 up, faced Betty Barrett, former Minneapolis champion from Minneapolis, who is competing in her first national. Miss Barrett eliminated Mrs. Charles Newbold, 2 up.

Topping the lower bracket in the day's feature match were Charlotte Glutting, conqueror of Miss Milley, 3 and 1, and Mrs. Hill. Hill defeated Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, 2 and 1, yesterday.

In the final match of the lower bracket were Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, Texas, admittedly one of the best match players in the game, and Patty Berg, 17-year-old freckled face darling from the home Interlachen Country club.

Mrs. Chandler defeated Patricia Stephenson, Minneapolis, 2 and 1, and Patty turned back Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, former Canadian champion, by the same margin to enter the quarter-finals.

LET KIDNEYS FLUSH OUT 3 LBS. A DAY

Clean Out 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

Nature put over 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters in your kidneys to strain the waste matter out of the blood. Kidneys should pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter.

When the passing of water is scanty, with smarting and burning, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your body may take up some of these poisons causing serious trouble. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and help the kidneys to flush out 3 pounds a day. Insist on Doan's Pills.

Exceptionally fine entertainment both in production and acting. Katherine Hepburn, in her portrayal of the wistfully pathetic small town young girl, surpasses anything she has ever done. There is deep human appeal in the story, moments of tender pathos, romance, and comedy. Every young girl in similar circumstances should feel as if her own life story were unfolded because of the realistic way in which it is told.
